ROBERT E. LEE HIGH SCHOOL

Staunton, Virginia

Foreword

Lee High School stands on a high hill. The road up to the school is steep. You're out of breath when you reach the top, for it has taken a long, hard pull to get there.

The road through Lee High is steep too, and four or five years long. Graduation stands on the crest of its hill. You're out of breath when you reach that, too.

We hope we have recaptured those few breathless years of high school and have made them stand still for you rather than fly past in a blur. We have tried to collect a lot of little things, as well as big ones, for it's the combination that makes school important. The quirks of the teachers, the window seat you ate lunch in, the Football Dance, the District 5 Basketball Tournament—they're all here. In a few years, they will all blend into one vivid memory—the memory of high school. And wherever you go, and whatever you do, we hope you will take it with you, always.

Record Staff

"Please get that story in. We've got a deadline to meet." If you hear that, you know that Sheila Eddy, this year's Editor-in-chief of the RECORD, is near. When those words are spoken, you'll soon see Sheila, and assistant editors, David Ogden and Laura Clausen spreading great long galley proofs over room 207, filling them with proofreader's symbols. Donald Bosserman is advertising manager, and thanks to him, the RECORD has a fine collection of ads this year. Art editors, Mark Burnett and Mary Franklin Spitler have also added a lot to the magazine with their drawing.

The staff, with the patient help of Mrs. McClung, has put out three issues of the magazine, and the annual. This year, for the first time, the Junior Class was represented on the staff by Tommie Sue Richardson, and her stories and poems have certainly helped the magazine. The folks on the staff have worked hard, so enjoyed their two day holiday at the S. I. P. A. conference in Lexington even more than usual.

Dramatic Club

When you find the school thrown into a state of complete confusion, you know that the Dramatic Club is giving another play. And when they give a play, everybody works. More than likely, their august president, Jean Jarrelle, will be running about the halls in bluejeans, and the secretary, Janet Bell James, will be busy coaching lines rather than taking minutes. Vice president Dugger Houston, instead of merely waiting for the president to be absent, is kept quite busy chasing after obscure properties, and in the midst of the bustle is Miss Whitelaw, complete with smock, giving her very excellent direction.

This year the Dramatic Club has presented two plays. The one given in the fall was the comedy, Ever Since Eve, and the spring presentation was The Late Christopher Bean. It's a big job, yes, but the reward comes to the club members, when going through the halls, they hear, "That was a wonderful play". Then when treasurer Roger Perry counts the profits, all are satisfied.

Seated—Sheila Eddy, Peggy Mitchell, Dorothy Woodside, Sue Rolston, Phyllis Sensabaugh, Jean Jarrelle, Janet Bell James, Nancy Wright, Mary Franklin Spitler.

Tri-Hi-Y

To create, maintain, and extend high standards of Christian character, the Tri-Hi-Y's purpose, is a hard one to carry out—but the girls in the club feel that they do have some good influence—and hope that others feel they do. Tri-Hi-Y meets every Tuesday—sometimes in room 208 after school, and sometimes at the Y at night—but always with Joan Dove presiding, Nancy Payne taking minutes, and Virginia Echols giving the treasurer's report. Laura Clausen, the vice president and program chairman, does a fine job with a thankless office.

Tri-Hi-Y keeps itself busy with small jobs around school, like selling paper in the library, and candy and ice cream at the basketball games. In the fall they gave a tea for the faculty. The club members also help with money raising projects, like the March of Dimes and the Cancer Fund. Delegates have been sent to the district conferences, Blue Ridge, and the Model General Assembly, and have represented the club well. Of course, none of this could be done without the constant help of Miss Crawford and Miss Hardie, the club's sponsors.

Hi-Y

Every time you turn around at Lee High, you find another iron in the Hi-Y's fire—most of them money raising irons. The T. B. drive at Christmas, when Mr. May's homeroom won the contest, went over big. The March of Dimes campaign rolled around in January. "We want to raise some money," says the club. Another contest? "No," says president David Ogden, "school's tired of contests." Social minded treasurer Dick Wray, forgetting he'd have the money worries, came up with the idea of a benefit dance. Good! There's never been a benefit dance at school. So, Hi-Y sponsored the March of Dimes benefit dance. Yet, there was another drive in the offing—the Red Cross. Hi-Y took on that one too. They tried another contest and watched with baited breath while vice-president Charles Thacker put up the x's on the chart in the hall. Results? "Rotten," stormed secretary Mike Kivlighan. So, Hi-Y got busy and created interest with an assembly program. "An assembly program built around the Red Cross drive? Impossible," said Mr. Smither, "but you can try." They tried—and did it. That dead body (Don Bosserman) shot by Bud Burnett and carried off very ably by Drs. Ogden and Wray did the trick. Hi-Y made the goal and went over—they always do.

F. H. A.

The F. H. A.'s activities during the year included dressing dolls for the Salvation Army at Christmas and sending boxes of supplies to Europe.

The officers of the club are Annabelle Rowe, Margaret Harris, Frances Nolen, Sara Gayhart, and Marianna Dull.

The F. H. A. is interested in learning about the right way to run a home and has many projects along that line, as well as several parties a year. Miss Foster is their advisor.

Girls' Athletic Club

"Who's gonna' give the dance for the football team?" was the question around school in November. No one seemed to want to risk a big dance right then—but the Athletic Club pitched in and gave a bang-up good one.

Anybody who walked into that gym the afternoon of the dance and saw those blue-jeaned girls hanging from stepladders wouldn't have believed that they would be turned into the beauties in the figure that night, when Vice-President Hilda Fox was crowned Football Queen, but they were.

It was Treasurer Tina Cacciapaglia's worry to fill up the deficit later, but that worry ironed itself out, just like the worry of the assembly program disappeared. Oh! that chorus line! It made the assembly program. The boys in the audience grinned from ear to ear when those girls (Secretary Beverley Rife and President Joan Adams among them) did the kicks. And Mrs. Mason thinks she has a real cute group of girls, too.

Glee Club

"Mi, mi, mi, mi," comes floating out of room 103, just like the tweets come out of the Veteran's Hall from the band, and everybody knows that the music clubs are practicing. If it's a low do-re-mi, the boys are at it—if it's an octave or so higher, the girls are working, if it's a combined racket, the mixed chorus is rehearsing.

Anyway you take it, you know that it's a good program in the making. Because, even if those rehearsals sound like a big jumble of noise that drives all (and especially the next-door physics) students nuts, the finished product is always a top-flight performance. One thing to be depended on—Mr. Sanger's music clubs always do a swell job.

Accompanists Peggy Jorstad and Mary Alice Brown (you've seen them at the piano in assembly) do a thankless job with real finish and technique.

First Row—Robert Lickfold, Paul Rimel, Robert Brand, Emmett Mattox,
Bobby Clatterbaugh, Donald Robertson, Bobby Rife, Mary Alice Brown,
Peggy Jorstad.

Second Row—Irwin Nuckols, Paul Brown, Benny Dull, Charles Ingram, James Jordan, Harry Dahl, Bill Conner, Fred Miller.

Third Row—Keith Phillips, Benham Black, Jerry Armentrout, Bob Hanger, Jack Brown,
Conrad Sanger, David Rowe, Mr. Sanger.

Fourth Row—Keith Woebke, Frank Black, John Rohr, Jimmy Sensabaugh, Harry Rohr, Dick Hess, Dale Powers.

Boys' Chorus

The Boys' Chorus presented a program in assembly, and the Girls' Glee Club gave a separate one. Everybody enjoyed the songs, especially the boys' presentation of "De Animals Is Comin'", with Dick Hess and Paul Rimel soloing.

The annual Spring Concert, given jointly with the band, was on May 9th. It was a grand concert!

The officers of the music clubs have an easy time of it—Mr. Sanger does most of the work, but nevertheless, Jimmy Sensabaugh and Betty Ault serve as presidents, and Hilda Fox and David Rowe serve as secretaries. The librarians, Paul Rimel and Gloria Hulvey have more to do because—well, have you ever tried giving out, collecting, and storing all that music? It weighs tons!

Seated—Joan Bridges, Ann Mauzy, Barbara Sheetz, Alma Young.

First Row—Virginia Bumgardner, Judy Weller, Mary McClung, Margaret Gardner, Catherine Gibbs, Betty Massie.

Second Row—Emily Diggs, Jackie Acord, Janet Bell James, Nancy Whitten, Miss Crawford.

Library Staff

Ever think what work is behind taking a book out of the library? Most people don't. Stamp the cards, make out all those overdue slips (didn't realize you caused so much work when you let that book sit in your locker three days too long, did you?), shelve the volumes, make out file cards, shellac new books—all that's the Library Staff's work—and some more left over. It's a big job to run the library well and keep everybody supplied with parallel books and eighteenth century reference material, but Miss Crawford and her girls do this efficiently. True, it's tiresome to hear Miss Crawford's "All right, let's get quiet," over and over, but it's funny how we head for the library when a quiet place to study is in demand.

The staff operates very little as a club, but they do have officers to head things. Joan Dove, president; Ann Mauzy, vice-president; Barbara Sheetz, secretary, and Joan Bridges, treasurer, are the lucky ones.

Seated—Cecilia Matthews, Jackie Acord, Virginia Gaylord, Sally Howie, Janet Sheehan, Margorie Hoge, Barbara Mays.

Camera Club

Camera Club is unique. Naturally it would be—its advisor is Mr. House. Enough said? I thought so. Camera Club is different because its officers are appointed, not elected. "It's a dictatorship," gripe the members. But they're just kidding because they know there would be no better president than Joe Wells. Even if they'd had the chance to elect officers, they would probably have elected him. And Jimmy Crosby would most likely have been vice-president, and Zeke Vames secretary-treasurer, even if Mr. House hadn't had his hands in it. So, the members fuss about "one-party" ballots just for the fun of it.

This year there's real interest in photography and the club has gotten a lot out of the movies and lectures they've studied. The darkroom now sports a be-u-ti-ful new enlarger that president and advisor beam about whenever it's mentioned. The Camera Club shares one activity with all the school. They bring us the exhibit of the National High School Photography Awards every year and hang it in the upstairs hall, turning the place into a picture gallery. Then, Miss Crawford can't get into her library for the people she has to plow through to get to the door. She, as well as all the folks out here, know there's a growing and active Camera Club.

Band

There was a brand-new addition at Lee this year—and it took hold and grew, and is growing, and will grow some more. It's the band. We've wanted and needed a band here for years and now we have it. Mr. Sanger and his folks have really worked, and it shows. It's a real accomplishment to start a band from scratch and six months later, have it playing full force in assembly—on pitch, too. Everybody at school should take hats off to Mr. Sanger and the band. The football games and assembly will take on new color from here on out because of it.

Not to be outdone by any other school club, the band got together and elected officers. They chose good ones—good band members and good musicians. Paul Rimel is band manager—the job that takes work. Dugger Houston is president and Emmett Mattox secretary. We know they'll carry Lee's new band on to great things.

MEMBERS OF THE BAND

Seated—John Shorey, Fred Pultz, Barbara Serrett, Bill Hutton.

First Row—Miss Quillen, Sondra Brockman, Nancy Wright, Joan Taylor, Bonnie Painter, Glenn Desper, Harold Ralston.

Second Row—Bill McLain, Conrad Sanger, Forrest Sheffer, Jack Brown, David Rowe, Barbara Hartman, James Jordan, Jay Dixon, Gordon Kirby.

Third Row—Jerry Armentrout, Hunter Reed.

D. E. Club

The D. E. Club has had quite an active year. There have been several district and state meetings that many of the members have attended and enjoyed. President Fred Pultz and a number of others went to the D. E. meet in Waynesboro, where Nancy Wright was in the speech contest. Vice-president Bill Hutton was the delegate to the State meeting in Richmond.

In the D. E. Club, the students' interest is in activities pertaining to retailing and merchandising. Its members work in stores downtown, and learn about employer-employee relationships. The D. E. Club publishes the Blotter, a news magazine with several pages of juicy gossip. Conrad Sanger is editor of the Blotter and secretary Barbara Serrett is assistant editor. John Shorey serves on the sports committee in addition to collecting the dues. Miss Quillen is advisor.

First Row—Connie Mick, Eugenia Folk, Laura Clausen, Dale Tucker, Julie Lytton, Trilvey Mabe, Glenn Talley, Paul Kershner, Miss Johnston.

David Rowe, David Ogden, H. B. Dice, Jack Brown, Keith Phillips, Kenneth Shumake.

Bible Club

The Bible Club is different in that, unlike any other school organization, it has a turnover at mid-terms. President David Ogden and the secretary-treasurer Laura Clausen turned their responsibilities (and their pleasure) of office over to the second term officers, Keith Phillips and Jack Brown, after January exams. Of course, Miss Johnston remained the advisor.

The Bible Club is formed by the students of the Bible classes. They study the history and theories of the Old Testament and the New, and gain much from their work. And they have fun, too. Who would forget that May picnic?

This Year Around Lee High

September the fourth, the first day of school, four hundred and eighteen people headed for Lee High. Upon returning to school, the students found a number of new faces among the faculty as well as the student body. Replacing some of the teachers of previous years were Miss Bette Quillen, teaching distributive and commercial education, Miss Mary Jay Speer, the new Spanish teacher, and Miss Carolyn Dietz, in the art department. Mrs. Betty Garber was head of the commercial classes, teaching typing and shorthand, while Mrs. Peggy Mason taught girls' physical education. In the capacity of advisor to the RECORD staff, as well as teacher of junior English, was Mrs. Alma McClung. Two of the freshman classes were taken over by new teachers this year, Mrs. Isabelle McSwain teaching general science, and Mr. Joseph Stanley teaching freshman civics. Our new band was led by Mr. Paul Sanger, who also led the boys' and girls' choral clubs and the assembly singing.

There are a number of school activities as well as personal achievements not mentioned elsewhere to which we wish to call attention. One of these is the Code of Ethics award. Each year the Senior Class and the faculty choose two seniors who they believe have best lived up to the High School Code of Ethics as set forth by the Rotary Club. This year the two students selected were Laura Clausen and Donald Bosserman. Another honor that comes to the seniors each year is the choosing of the valedictorian and the salutarian, the seniors having the highest academic standings for the four years work. Laura Clausen is the valedictorian of the Class of Nineteen Fifty-two, and Peggy Mitchell is the salutarian.

While mentioning honors, we would like to display one of our own. The school magazine, the RECORD, won an honorary award in the Southern Inter-scholastic Press Association judging. As the entire staff and the advisor were new to the job, we consider this quite an achievement.

In the Forensic Meet held in Harrisonburg this year, two Lee High students, both seniors, carried off second place awards, Betty Ault being runner-up in girls' poetry reading and Johnny Gilbert in boys' prose reading.

The Glee Club and Boys' Chorus went to Covington to participate in the Music Festival this spring. Both clubs won a place in the judging. As this is the first time they have competed, they are to be commended.

We had a visitor at Lee High this spring, Miss Johanna Schumm, from Germany. Miss Schumm has been in this country since last September, studying and observing the American school system under the auspices of the State Department Teacher Exchange Program. She stayed at Lee for a month, visiting the various classes and telling the students about her own country.

The end of the school year, as always, was the time for the seniors to end their activities. The baccalaureate service was held this year at Central Methodist Church on the first of June and the annual Senior Class banquet the following night at the Garden Center. Graduation exercises took place in the High School Auditorium on the night of June third, and the year was officially ended.

BOOK FOUR

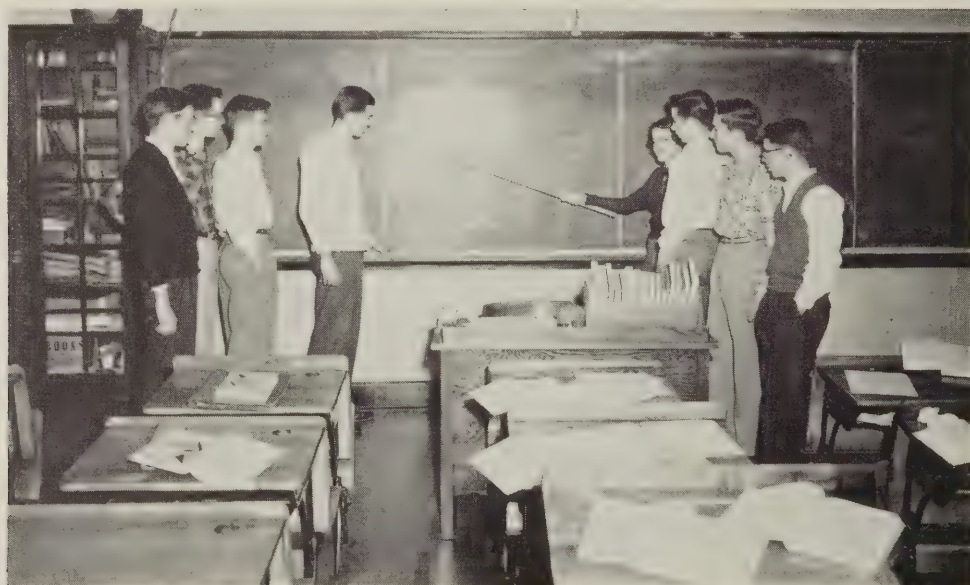

Classes

English

In Miss Whitelaw's senior English class (where this picture is taken) pupils study the lives and characters of the famous English authors, as well as their works. And who will ever forget those parallels?

Mathematics

Pictured here is a blackboard explanation in Miss Stoddard's trigonometry class. She also teaches solid and plane geometry, and Mr. House teaches algebra.

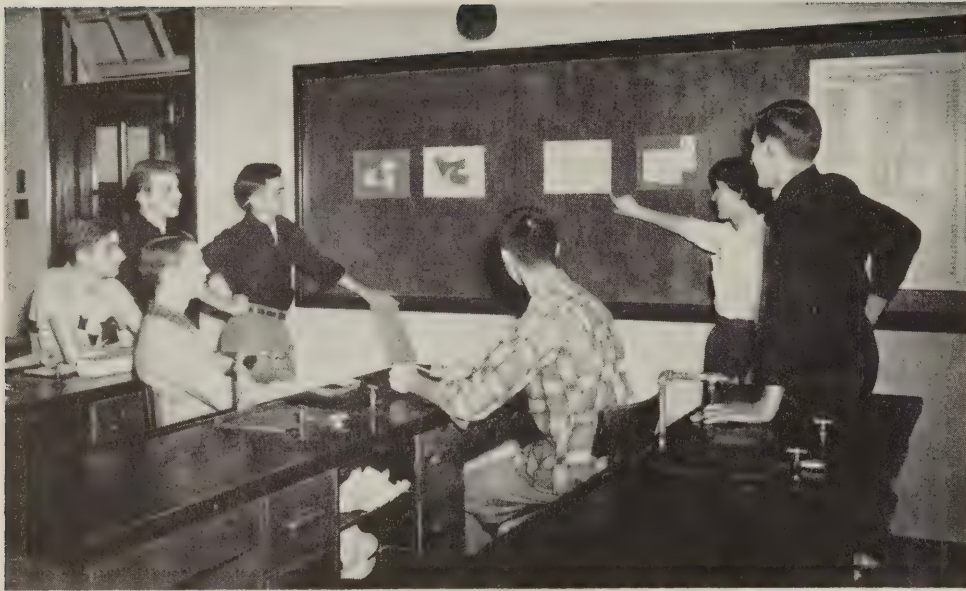

Social Studies

Here we have one section of Mr. May's senior civics class. Students learn the principles of American government in this class, as well as discuss the present day events.

Science

It seems to the students that physics is a long and painful subject, considering experiments on Thursdays and Fridays, but Mr. House, with his own special system for everything, makes time fly. He teaches both chemistry and physics in an unforgettable way.

Art

Miss Dietz's art class is very well liked. In it students have the chance to use oil paints, water colors, charcoal, and linoleum blocks. They also can experiment with sculpture and both modern and classical painting.

Home Economics

Miss Foster's home economics course attracts any number of girls. Here they have the opportunity to cook, sew, and learn the fundamentals of house-keeping.

Industrial Arts

For the boys, Mr. Wenner's classes in industrial arts give a grand opportunity to learn mechanical drawing, woodworking, and metal working.

Distributive Education

The distributive education course, taught by Miss Quillen, is perhaps the most practical one in the school. Pupils here learn the important points of retailing, display, and employee relationships. They get to put their learning into practice by working in related jobs after school.

Music

Mr. Sanger has a tremendous job in directing the Glee Club, Boys' Chorus, Band, and assembly singing, but he does it well. The music groups work on a well balanced program of modern and classical music, and give fine performances.

Foreign Languages

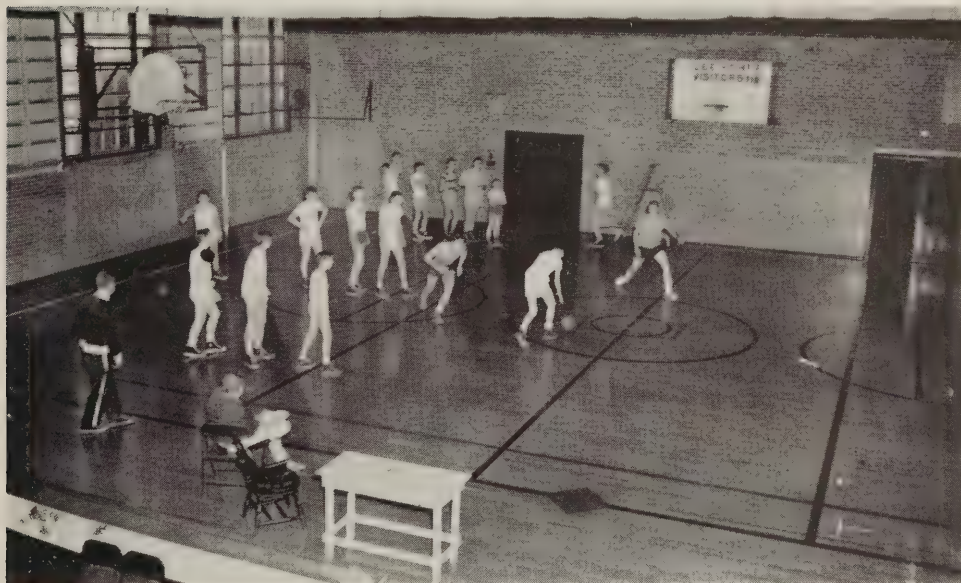

This picture shows Miss Speer's second-year Spanish class. Students learn the basic foundation of Spanish grammar, as well as the background and history of Spanish-America, and practice in carrying on a conversation.

Students at Lee can also take a four year course of Latin, taught by Miss Finkle.

Commercial

Mrs. Garber's commercial course includes two years of both typing and shorthand, plus many useful hints about correct procedure for a secretary. Courses in business arithmetic and general business also help the would-be office worker.

Physical Education

Lee High has a very good physical education program. Besides learning about the various sports, students are taught hygiene and personal health. Coach Hern teaches the boys and Mrs. Mason the girls.

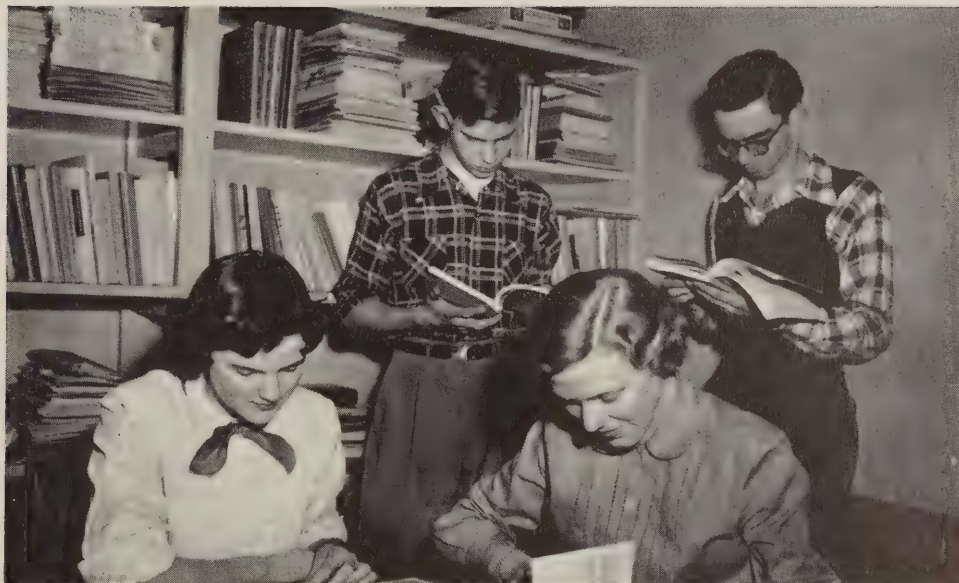

Bible

The Bible class is taught by Miss Johnston. Pupils in her class study the truths and theories of the Bible, as well as gain a valuable knowledge of the background of Biblical times.

Health

There is a health program at Lee High for all students, whether they take physical education or not. A careful record is kept of weights and heights and Mrs. Dey checks teeth and throats twice a year.

Guidance

In Miss Hardie's office, students may browse through college catalogues to their hearts' content. She is always ready to advise in the selection of classes and colleges, and also gives aptitude tests to whomever wants them.

Library

The library is a great help to every student at Lee, for both reference and straight reading material. But of greater help is Miss Crawford, who helps us find what we want in the maze of books!

Basketball Team

The 1951-1952 basketb  ll season at Lee turned out to be quite a surprise. Since all of the first string graduated last year, it seemed doubtful that a team made up entirely of new recruits could, even with hours and hours of practice, make a very good showing. The boys and Coach McSwain got together, though, and the result was another swell team this year.

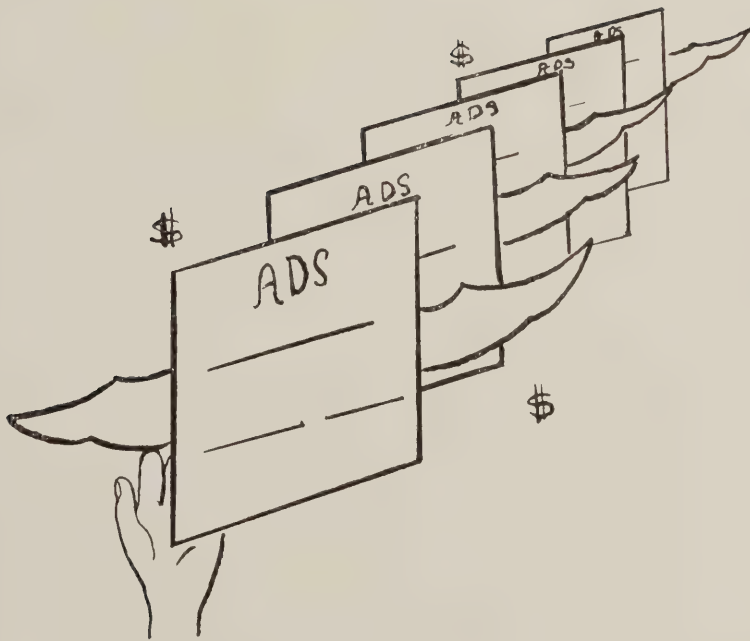

Lee played the regular stiff schedule, and lost only five games out of fifteen, none of these by a very big margin. In the second round of the season, Lee won over real opposition, and the games were all of the thriller type—close scores to the very end—but Lee came out on top. It was a great disappointment to Lee that the Wilson game was lost, but the boys played a fine game.

The team went on to the District V Tournament in Lexington, along with Winchester, Harrisonburg, and Waynesboro. Lee lost the tournament game to Winchester, but, as always, gave a fine showing and made the school quite proud of the Leemen.
